

Relative subtype distribution of mammalian isolate in which mutation was identified across all segments

